BOX TAKEN FROM CORNER STONE

E. O. Dale Probably Only Living Odd
Fellow in the City Who Attended Dedication Exercises.

IT WAS LAID 57 YEARS AGO
Names on Roll Call Can Hardly be Read And the Paper Falls to Pieces.

When the corner stone of the Odd Fellows' building was opened this morning there was probably only one man in the crowd that had gathered to watch the proceedings, who was a member of the lodge when the stone was laid fifty-seven years ago. E.
O. Dale, a pioneer resident of this city and father of O. M. Dale, as far as can be learned, is the only living member of the lodge in this city, who attended the dedicatory exercises at the laying of the corner stone in the spring of 1854.

Mr. Dale remembers distinctly when the stone was laid and recalled the contents of the box which was placed in the stone even before it was opened this morning. He stood within five feet of the stone when it was placed in position 57 years ago and stood there this morning while the workmen were endeavoring to unearth the long hidden box.

The stone which contained the box was located in the northeast corner and the remodeling of the lower floor
for the Rush County National Bank necessitated its removal. It had been generally known for several days that the stone would be opened and a large crowd gathered this morning to watch the work. The capstone when removed revealed a tin box about twelve inches long and four or five inches wide with a depth of about three inches. The box is oxidized and in a crumbly state.

The papers in the box are damp and musty and crumbled on touching.
As a whole the papers are not very well preserved and of the list of 140 names of the members at that time only a few are readable. It is the intentions of the members to look up the records and obtain the names of the men on the roll call. There is a copy of the two Rushville papers which were published then; the Jack-sonian and the Whig. The papers give an account of the construction of the building which at that time was considered a marvelous feat in architecture. Someone had deposited a half-dime in the box which is in very good condition. It is thought that as soon as the papers dry out more may be learned about the early activity of the lodge.

The box has been placed on exhibition at the Bodine shoe store, where it attracts considerable attention.

TO SELL TO HIGHEST BIDDER

Old New Salem Building Will be Sold And Contract Let.

Edgar Morris trustee of Noble township, will offer for sale to the highest bidder at Sparks & Gary's law office Thursday afternoon, June 29, the old school building in New Salem which was recently condemned by the State Board of Health. At the same time and at the same place sealed bids will be received for the erection of the new two-story brick school house which will be built in the place of the old one. The plans have been completed and comply with the sanitary school house law which was passed by the last general assembly.

WILL GO OVER 5000 MARK

John Gantner Estimates Population
Much Over Government Report.

John Gantner, who is compiling a directory of Rushville, from what figures he has at hand, believes that the population of the city is between 5,500 and 5,800. He has estimated the total population by figuring from some facts which he has gleaned in his round over the city. Mr. Gantner fully believes that the city will easily go over the five thousand mark and that the government census is wrong. There have been a number of proofs of late that it is in error.

BOARD OF REVIEW BEGINS ITS WORK

Will be in Session Only 30 Days This Year on Account of Loss in Population.

ORGANIZATION IS PERFECTED

The county board of review met in the auditor's office in the court house
this morning and perfected an organization before giving way to the county board of education which met there today to elect a county superintendent of public schools. John F.
Moses, county assessor, was elected chairman and County Auditor Jesse Stone is secretary of the board by virtue of the position which he holds.

It was decided that the board should convene every morning at eight o'clock and every afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The meeting was adjournd until this afternoon when the work of the board was started. It will hear all complaints that taxpayers may have to make. The board will be in session only thirty days this year. In previous years when real estate has been appraised, the board has been in session forty days.
The change this year is due to the fact that the population of the county fell below 20,000 according to the last census.

LODGES OBSERVE DECORATION DAY

The Rev. Cyrus Yocum, Pastor of the Main Street Christian Church
Delivered Excellent Address.

OVER ONE HUNDRED IN LINE

The Knights of Pythias, Red Men and Odd Fellows lodges observed their annual Decoration Day yester-lay with impressive exercises. There were over one hundred members of the three lodges in the line that marched to East Hill cemetery from the court house square. The Rushville city band headed the line of march and the route was out Second street instead of around through Jersey City. A large number of people drove to the cemetery as it was first thought that they would be compelled to go by way of Jersey City.

After the graves were decorated,
the Rev. Cyrus Yocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, delivered the address. The Rev. Mr. Yocum pleased with his remarks which were very appropriate and in keeping with the day.

When you go shopping in Burmah it is difficult to get the proprietor of the establishment to show his goods.

YOUNG WOMEN TURN HIM DOWN

Failure to Notice His Attentions Believed to Have Caused Harry Routzhan Insane Periods.

IS VERY QUIET WHILE IN JAIL

Sings, Prays, and Reads From His Bible Almost Continuously—
Says He's Religious Man.

Failure to make an impression on certain young women in the vicinity of Arlington is believed to be the cause that has worked most to place Harry Routzhan, a farm laborer, in the condition he is now in. It will be remembered that Routzhan terrorized the family of Earl Downey, on whose farm, west of Arlington, he was employed, early Saturday morning, threatening to kill them with a razor
and refusing to allow them to telephone for assistance. He was arrested only after a posse of men had gathered and he had been clubbed over the head. He was adjudged insane and will be sent to Richmond as soon as there is a vacancy in the Eastern Insane hospital.

It is the belief of people who have watched Routzhan that young women have played an important part in his life. He has always been an ardent church goer and has appeared very religious. In fact he is still that way.
It is said that he has attempted to pay attention to certain young women and that they have refused them. In case, when his affections were tampered with and shoved aside he has exhibited signs of insanity, so it is said.

He is still very religious, but has as yet failed to become boisterous or act dangerous. He has lost all of his bravado spirit and has made no more declarations that he never was arrested and that he never would be.
Routzhan spends most of his time in jail, praying, singing and reads from his Bible and prayer book. He insists that he is a very religious man and that he will be taken care of by good Christian people.

It seems that Routzhan was a railroad man before he came to this county to work. He has been here since March 22 of this year. He has told the sheriff about his work and it is gleaned from his conversation that he has had at least six or eight years experience on the road. He says that he has worked as brakeman and that just before he quit the New York Central lines, he was a conductor.

Routzhan has declared to Sheriff Bebout that he enjoyed the railroad work very much and that he never had any trouble with one exception.
He says that he was once laid off for ten days because he failed to have a car switched in on a sidetrack far enough and caused an accident.

SIXTY-EIGHT IN CLASS

Children Are Given First Holy Communion at Catholic Church.

Special services were conducted at the St. Mary's Catholic church yesterday, when the first holy communion was given to a large class of sixty-eight children. The communion was received at the first mass in the morning and another brief exercise was held in the afternoon. It was formerly the restriction that no children under 12 years could receive communion but the age limit has been changed to seven years.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Tuesday.

C. M. GEORGE IS RE-ELECTED

Is Unanimously Chosen County Superintendent For Next Term by Board of Education.

9 TRUSTEES IN ATTENDANCE

Five Democrats Would Have Supported Any Candidate Who Could Get Two Republican Votes.

C. M. George will be county superintendent for four years, all things remaining the same.

He was re-elected by the county board of education which was in session in the county auditor's office in the court house shortly before dinner. There were only nine of the twelve trustees in the county present, but they voted unanimously for Mr. George. There was no opposition.

At the opening of the meeting J. V.
Young of this city, trustee of Rushville township, was chosen chairman, and A. O. Hill of Ripley and O. A. J.
Hall of Washington township were elected tellers. C. M. George, the present superintendent, was nominated and unanimously elected, when no other name was placed in nomination. O. M. Siler of Jackson township, J. A. Shelton of Walker township and J. W. Anderson of Richland township were the trustees who were not present.

It has been predicted that C. M.
George would be unanimously re-elected to the position as he has been serving only since last September, when he was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Orlando Randall. Mr. Randall had held the office only two years. He was chosen after W. O. Headlee resigned.

Although there were no avowed candidates before the board it is said that that was the case because others who wanted the place could not be elected. It is known by a few that one man considered becoming a candidate and that he spent last week going among the trustees to see if it were possible for him to be elected. He evidently decided that there was no chance.

There were four candidates to fill the vacancy when Mr. George was elected. It seemed to be a sort of a mutual agreement that the man who was victorious at that time should have the office for the next regular term of four years. That agreement seems to have held good as none of those men appeared as candidates.

The election would not have been without a little politics mixed in it had it been possible for another candidate to be found who would have been favored by two Republican trustees in preference to the present incumbent. The five Democratic trustees in the county held a caucus in Will Newbold's office recently and decided that they would throw their vote to any candidate who was assured of two Republican votes. But evidently their plans miscarried as the candidate with two Republican votes did not show up today.

BOTH MEN PLEADED GUILTY

Fined One Dollar and Costs Saturday Night in Police Court.

"Dick" Shepler and Fred Seright pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication Saturday night in police court and each were fined one dollar and costs, which was paid. Shepler was hauled to jail Saturday morning
by Policeman McAllister. Seright gave his home as Williamstown, Ind.

Further announcement of that will be made.

death did not come unexpected. He is survived by a widow and ten chil-

Decorating Committee Meets Tonight
And Choir Will Gather at Tabernacle Tomorrow Evening

This week will see the beginning of the two weeks revival which will be held in the tabernacle on the Mull lot in Perkins street. The meeting will be started Wednesday evening and a number of other sessions will be held before that preparatory to the opening event. Mr. Ross, the singing evangelist, is at his old home in Con-

to arrange for his part of the work.
Evangelist Orr will be here tomorrow or Wednesday. The tabernacle is all complete and ready for opening.

The members of the decorating committee will meet in the tabernacle this evening at 7:30 o'clock to arrange their part of the work. It is planned to decorate the interior of the tabernacle extensively. The ush-appointed will also meet at the tabernacle at the same time this evening.

Singing Evangelist Ross wishes to meet the special choir at the tabersinging a feature of the meeting. Mr.

Ross comes highly recommended by churches where he has sung in meetings.

The closing meeting of the series of women's mass meetings in preparation for the revival was held at the Main Street Christian church yesterday afternoon. More enthusiasm was exhibited than has ever been the case at any of the previous meetings. Mrs. Cyrus Yocum presided and a number of musical selections were rendered.

Defer Hearing on Reports of Six Other Roads.

SALOON CHANGE COMES UP

taken no action on it at 3:30 o'clock.

Two road petitions were considered. Thomas A. Jones and Cassius M.
King were appointed viewers for the John Jordan road in Posey township, and James W. Anderson and Charles Davis were named for the William Leisure road in the same township.
Several claims were allowed this morning.

The reports of viewers on six roads were to have been heard today but were not ready. They were de-

SAYS TEXTBOOK LAW IS CLEAR

Governor Marshall Declares Account
Board is Able to Cope With Book Agent Problem.

GEOGRAPHY TO BE REVISED

Township Trustees are Instructed Not to Spend Money For Supplementary Texts.

Township trustees over the State, following the adoption by the State board of school book commissioners of a one-book course in geography for the common schools, have been warned by the State board against the expenditure of township money for supplementary texts. When the question of a one-book course was up for consideration, one of the objections voiced was that it would leave the township trustee a prey to the school book agent, who would be free to solicit the purchase of supplementary text books for the early years' work in geography on the theory that such supplementary books would be necessary to enable the teachers in the country schools to do do proper work.

Opponents of the one-book course acknowledge such a course would be satisfactory in the city schools, where supplementary texts are used freely, without regard for the selection made by the State board. It was represented that if a one-book course was to be adopted for all the schools, the book agents could go to the township trustees and represent that the success of the course in the cities was largely due to the use of supplementary texts, and that if the course was to be a success in the rural schools, the trustees must purchase other texts.

The state board, having adopted a one-book course, will represent to the trustees that the purchase of supplementary texts is unnecessary and that the public money should not be spent for such a purpose.

Governor Marshall, a member of the board, said the township trustees would not be permitted by law to purchase supplementary text books, and that if township money were to be spent for such a purpose, the trustees would be held to account by the State Board of accounts. "The school book law covers that point entirely," said the Governor, "and it covers it not only for the township trustee, but for the school boards of cities, unless the city has a special charter, as I understand Indianapolis has, giving the board the right to choose such texts.

A number of changes in the Indiana section of the geography text adopted will be made in the copies to be used in the State. The sample text contained pictures of the State university, the State Normal school, Purdue university, Wabash college and Franklin college. These will all be taken out. It also contained a number of pictures of Gary and this number will be reduced.

Letters received from a large number of school men throughout the State before the meeting of the board showed the majority to be opposed to the one-book course. In one group of thirty-five letters, received from representative school men, thirty-four opposed the one-book course. The opposition was based on the theory that the ordinary teacher in the rural schools would

Nailed in a Box, a Man Rode From Kansas to Texas.

Shipped from Lawrence, Kan., as merchandise in a common wooden box a man giving the name of Banks A. Myers succeeded in reaching Fort Worth, Tex., before he was discovered by officials of the American Express company. Myers' presence in the box was learned only when, almost over come by the heat and strain of his long trip, he was forced to make it known.

Employees of the express company are at a loss to explain Myers' motive. A man giving the name of John Trask bought an empty box which had contained a talking machine. Later he hired an expressman to haul the box to the American Express office, where he had made arrangements to have it shipped C. O. D. to Galveston. Neither the expressman nor the company employees noticed anything particular about the box, which was securely nailed and weighed more than 300 pounds.

Myers is being held until the affair can be investigated. Whether Myers and Trask are the same man is not known, but the police believe Trask had himself nailed in the box by confederates after making arrangements for the shipment.

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has made it a favorite everywhere. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

MUNCIE LIQUOR FIGHT GROWING

Both Sides Declare They Have Won Out.

COURT MAY HAVE TO SETTLE IT

Following Recent Victory of the Wets in Option Election, the Drys Began Circulation of Remonstrances Which Have Covered the Town, Though Wets Declare They Can Defeat Those Circulated in Certain Wards.

Muncie, Ind., June 5.—With both sides declaring they have won in the remonstrance fight, the question whether Muncie will be "wet" or "dry" is undecided still, and the result depends on the decision of the board of county commissioners, and possibly the higher courts, where a contest is expected to be waged.

Although the result is uncertain, the "drys" are proclaiming a clean-cut victory.

The "wets" concede that they have no hopes for a victory in the First, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards, but in the Second and Sixth they feel confident of winning out in the long run by assailing the signatures on the remonstrances in the downtown wards, many of which they declare are void, although they express no hopes of a saloon being in Muncie until the question has been decided by the court.

Seventy-four applications for saloon licenses have been filed, but the commissioners, in case the city or Second ward should be declared "wet," can grant only twenty-five licenses under the restrictions made under the Proctor law limiting the number of saloons to one to every 1,000 inhabitants.

WOMEN DESPONDENT

Two of Them at Hammond End Unhappy Lives.

Hammond, Ind., June 5.—Despondency is thought to have driven two Hammond women to suicide. Mrs. Frank Comiskey, thirty-three years old, died after several hours of suffering from pain caused by carbolic acid, of which she drank two ounces. The body of Mrs. Agnes Kozarewicz, twenty-six years old, was found in the prairie on the outskirts of the city after a three-day hunt. Beside her lay toasted bread on which was a thick layer of rat poison, and apparently she had eaten of this.

Fatal Wreck on the Wabash.

Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—One man was killed and two were seriously injured when a fast freight on the Wabash railroad ran into a cut of cars two miles east of here. The engine was overturned and Fireman C. E. Phallabaum of Peru was caught beneath it and crushed to death. Engineer W. E. Ernest and brakeman Robert Ewie, also of Peru, were hurled to the side of the track, both being injured internally.

Absorbed Deadly Poison.

Noblesville, Ind., June 5.—Thomas Mitchener, seventy-six years old, is dead at his home near this city from the effects of inhaling fumes from paris green. He had been working with a solution of the poison several days, spraying fruit trees. He was taken sick suddenly and suffered intensely until his death.

No Ground For Prosecution.

Bloomington, Ind., June 5.—Thirty cases filed against Indiana university students who were charged with voting illegally in the local option election last Wednesday, have been dismissed on the ground that there can be no prosecution under the law governing local option elections.

Jury Upheld "Unwritten Law."

Indianapolis, June 5.—James R. Wood, who shot and killed Jasper Bucy Jan. 27, 1911, following a story his wife told him of her relations with Bucy, and who was acquitted by a jury in criminal court on the ground of temporary insanity, has been discharged from custody.

Must Be Sold to Pay Debts.

Wabash, Ind., June 5.—Judge N. N. Antrim of Peru, who heard the Eagles' theater case after it had been sent back for second trial by the supreme court, has handed down his decision. The theater, constructed at a cost of $60,000, was ordered sold to pay claims.

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

What Other States are Doing In Matter of Road Construction

Under the Michigan State Aid road law there have been constructed 790 miles of public roads of which the State has paid an average of 22.6 per cent of the cost of construction. Of the roads that have been completed 97 per cent. were of gravel or macadam.

The State Highway Department of Minnesota, has available for State aid road work $80,000 in 1911; $300,000 in 1912. In 1912 the constitutional amendment will be voted on by the public providing an annual state road fund of about $125,000.

While Missouri has a State Highway Department which furnishes plans and engineering advice there is but about $100,000 available as state aid for road building in 1911.

The amount available for state aid to road improvement in New Hampshire in 1911 will be about $450,000. The total amount expended for construction in 1910 was $800,000.

Kansas has passed a general road law by which a number of state roads will be constructed and maintained.

Kentucky gave no state aid to public road building, the fiscal courts of the various counties having complete charge.

The legislature of Louisiana has enacted a state aid road law which is a splendid one as it places all road work in the state under a uniform and systematic plan. A copy of this law can be had of Chief State Engineer Frank M. Kerr.

Maine has made an appropriation of $250,000 for 1911, which will be largely increased in automobile license.

The State Highway Department of Maryland has appropriated $2,000,000 for road work in 1911.

Massachusetts maintains 825 miles of roads. The State Highway Commission has $500,000 available for construction work in 1911, and $550,000 for maintenance.

Jefferson County, Alabama, has voted a $1,000,000 bond issue for road construction.

A state road is being constructed between Phoenix and Prescott, Arizona.

A state road system connecting all the county seats has been worked out in Arkansas. It is hoped that the next session of the legislature will make a sufficient appropriation to carry through the plan.

The people of California have voted a bond issue of $18,000,000 for a state highway system. California now has seven state roads with a total of 276 miles.

Colorado will spend $500,000 this year for road purposes.

Connecticut, through its State Highway Department has constructed 80 miles of roads at a cost of $4,700,572.

Illinois and Indiana furnish very little state aid to road work.

New Jersey has 1,562 miles of roads improved under the State Aid law. The amount the state paid being $3,959,882. The state appropriation for 1911 is $300,000.

North Carolina built 863 miles of road in 1910. The convicts in 39 counties are, used in road construction numbering nearly 1400 men.

North Dakota has taken the first steps in the enactment of laws which will enable it to grant state aid in road construction. Another law now in force provides for the compulsory holding of institutes in which state superintendents must be present and discuss matters pertaining to road improvements.

Ohio will have for state aid, a fund of over $800,000 for 1911, an even amount of which is given to each county. In 1910 the state gave for pike repairs, the sum of $206,000.

Oklahoma levies a tax of 25 cents per horse power on automobiles which is expended by the State Highway Department in state road aid.

Oregon road improvement will not receive any state aid for two years. Both the Senate and House passed measures creating a state highway department and authorizing the issuing of bonds for road construction, but in the rush of closing hours the adjustments of the differences between the two bills did not reach the engrossing clerks before adjournment.

Pennsylvania is working on a system of state roads. Six thousand miles of roads is involved in this proposed system.

Little Rhode Island will spend $200,000 for state aid to road construction in 1911, and $80,000 for maintenance.

Texas gives no state aid to public roads, but it is estimated that $25,000,000 will be spent on highways in 1911. The total mileage of Texas roads is 140,000.

Utah has provided for more extensive state aid to road construction than any other state in the Union $60,000 is appropriated from state funds to each county. In counties of less than $2,000,000 assessed valuation the county duplicates one-fourth the state appropriation; in counties of from two to four million valuation, one-half and in counties of over $4,000,000 valuation, a sum equal to the state appropriation. The state also issues bonds for $260,000 the proceeds to be divided between twenty-six counties outside of Salt Lake county. The state further provides for the employment of its convicts in state road construction.

Vermont has raised its annual appropriation for state aid to roads to $150,000 to be spent in towns that put up an equal amount in addition the state spends $100,000 of the state tax and the automobile fund of $50,000 in constructing macadam roads.

In Washington the amount available for construction in 1911 is $79,000. The state maintains five large rock crushing plants, the labor of which is performed by convicts. The convicts are also used in road construction work.

West Virginia had a total appropriation for public roads in 1910 of $1,154,283, of which $114,500 was for state aid. There are 32,108 miles of public roads in the state.

SPRAYING THE FARM ORCHARD

By PROF. M. W. RICHARDS
Horticultural Department Purdue
Experiment Station

Purdue University Agricultural Extension

In the past the farm orchard has been an important feature in the commercial apple output of the state. Today the majority of the apples sold on the market are produced in large commercial orchards. The reason for this change can be attributed to the increase of insect and fungous pests and to the neglect of the farmer in caring for his orchard. The production of fruit fit for either market or home use from this time on, will depend largely on intelligent spraying.

The Outfit.
No thorough job of spraying can be done without a satisfactory outfit. A good outfit for the average home orchard should consist of a barrel pump, 25 or 30 feet of good hose, and eight to ten-foot extension rod and a nozzle. The pump and the nozzle are the vital parts of the outfit. A pump, to be satisfactory, should be capable of developing at least 85 pounds' pressure; it should possess a good agitator and a large air chamber; the valves should be easily accessible and should be protected by a strainer. A pump which answers these requirements will be a good one, regardless of who manufactures it. The main points to be considered in the nozzle are that, it should be light and compact; it should produce a mist rather than a sprinkle; and it should not drip. With such an outfit mounted on a sled or stone boat (Fig. 1), the average farm orchard can be well taken care of.

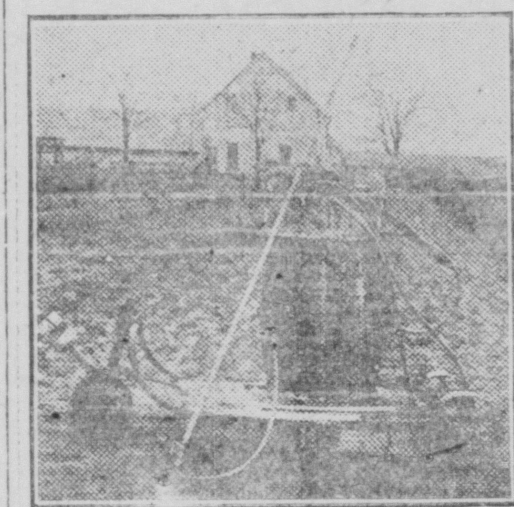

Fig. 1—Home Spraying Outfit. Pump is Mounted in the Barrel and is Hauled About on the Stone Boat. Note the Long Lead of Hose and Extension Rod. Nozzle of the Large Circular Type Producing Spray of Large Volume and Misty Character.

Spray Solutions.

The materials which are applied to the trees vary with the pest to be controlled. Scale is controlled by spraying when the trees are dormant. The time for this is now past. In the summer, pests which infest the fruit and attack the foliage are the ones to be contended with. Such pests fall under two classes—chewing insects and fungus diseases. These enemies may be overcome at the same time by the use of a combined insecticide and fungicide. The materials most used at present are dilute lime-sulphur or Bordeaux mixture for the fungous troubles and arsenate of lead for the chewing insects.

Lime-sulphur can either be made at home or purchased as a commercial mixture. For small orchards of 100 trees or less, it is advisable to use the commercial solution as it is more convenient than the home-made mixture and almost as cheap. Arsenate of lead is usually bought already prepared. It comes in the form of a heavy paste (or sometimes as a powder) and is used at the rate of two pounds of arsenate to every 50 gallons of spray material. The lime-sulphur is diluted at the rate of 1½ gallons of commercial mixture to 50 gallons of water. The arsenate is insoluble and must be thoroughly worked up in a small amount of water to the consistency of cream before it is added to the lime-sulphur or Bordeaux. This combination of lime-sulphur and arsenate of lead will control the majority of the fungous diseases and all of the chewing insects which infest the fruit and leaves during the summer season.

Fig. 2—Proper Time for First Spraying. Apples Should Be Sprayed Just After Leaf Buds Open as a Preventive Against Scabby Fruit.

Time of Application.

In order to insure a crop of perfect fruit, the spraying operations should be started early so that the poison will be on the trees before the pests arrive. The first spray should be applied just after the leaves come out but before the blossoms open (Fig. 2). This is the most important spraying for the apple scab and should be carefully done. The second application is made just after the petals fall (Fig. 3) while the calyx lobes are still wide open so that the calyx tube may be filled full of the poison. This is where the majority of the apple worms enter the fruit and great care should be exercised to fill each blossom with spray material. The third application is made two or three weeks after the second with the same materials and the fourth about the last week of June. This spraying may be omitted on the early apples as it is applied for the second brood of the codling moth. If these four applications of the lime-sulphur-arsenate of lead mixture are thoroughly applied at the proper times, the farm orchards of today will produce better fruit than ever before.

Cost of Spraying.

A good, reliable spray outfit suitable for the home orchard can be purchased for from $15.00 to $25.00. It has been demonstrated that the cost of material, time and interest of money invested in outfit does not come to more than 25c per tree for the season's spraying. As a result of this investment of 25c, the amount of marketable fruit is increased from 85 to 95 per cent. When the general farmer cares for his orchard as he cares for his other crops, he almost invariably finds that the orchard is not only the most profitable acre on the farm, but that winter finds his cellar full of fruit, as it used to be before the advent of the codling moth and the apple scab.

Fig. 3—Apple Cluster Showing Apples at Correct Stage for Second or Apple Worm Spraying. Young Fruit Standing Up With Calyx Lobes Wide Open Ready to Receive Maximum Dose of Poison.

Cherry Types.

Cherries are divided into two distinct types, both as to tree and as to fruit. We may safely treat them as the sweets and the sour. The tree of the sweets is habituated to a compact, erect growth, somewhat subject to disease and early mortality. The tree of the sour is low headed and spreading. Certain varieties of this sort are good bearers and stay in business from twenty to thirty years. Sweets are much sought after by birds, as well as by people, with a result that much of the fruit has been claimed by bills presented, collecting promptly in spite of protest. Sweets are not generally cultivated in large blocks in the Mississippi valley. They are confined to door yards and by places about the home, while the sour are raised to some extent commercially in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska.

Sweet Corn for Home Use.

I have been planting sweet corn for several years with a one-horse corn planter, dropping one grain every 12 inches asunder in the row and the rows three feet apart. I think I can raise better and larger corn than by planting three or four grains by hand at a single place in rows the same distance apart, says a writer in an exchange. As soon as the land is ready I use a weeder upon it just as I do on potatoes. This is much better than a cultivator at first, as it keeps the ground finer and holds moisture, better and does not disturb the roots as much as the cultivator does. For a first planting I use some very early kind and then follow this with several plantings of late varieties about two weeks apart. In this way I succeed in having sweet corn late in the season and also have abundance for canning and drying for the home table.

Early Pigs Best.

I like to have my sows farrow in March and April. If the weather is good, the pigs can be turned into the pasture during the day when they are two weeks old, says a writer in an exchange. Two or three ears of corn daily and plenty of skim milk will make the sows give a good flow of milk, and the pigs will grow rapidly. Place some early corn and skim milk where the pigs can get it through a creep, and by the time they are four weeks old they will eat and drink.

Arkansas Black Walnuts.

Arkansas black walnuts and red oak acorns will be used to replant the burned forest area of the Pacific northwest.

Buying Up-to-Date Goods

No woman likes to feel that she is buying old, shopworn, out-of-date goods.

She wants goods which are new and fresh, especially in articles of wear and ornamentation.

The store in which you trade largely determines what kind of goods you are buying.

If you trade in stores which do a small amount of business, you may rest assured that your merchant is always carrying goods which are two or three seasons out-of-date.

Such a merchant depends upon people coming to his store and searching through the stock to find out what they want.

The bright advertising merchant goes at it in another way.

He doesn't wait for people to dig through the stock to find his goods, but he uses space in the newspapers to tell all the people about his goods.

Advertising makes it easy for them to know about his wares, brings him immediate buyers and he sells his stock over and over again.

It doesn't get a chance to get stale—out-of-date.

Therefore, if you want to feel that the goods you are buying are right in style, quality and price, you should patronize the merchants who advertise.

The University of Minnesota cashier was robbed of $13,000, probably by students looking for help to pay their spring clothing bill.

Sixty million dollars in gold was turned over by Diaz to the new Mexican government. Had he put it in paper money, he might have carried it off sewed into his trousers.

The tobacco trust decision was called comprehensive, but it failed to examine the question if anything had been done to stop the boys from smoking sweet fern.

The postoffice department is criticised for paying $35 for a waste basket, but it probably takes about that size to hold the daily grist of applications for office.

After Congress investigates the purchase of Tennessee coal and iron a little longer, they will probably get possession of such inside facts as are familiar to the office boy.

We had been getting discouraged about the progress of the world, but the annual mighty uplift from the graduation exercises has come as usual.

The Supreme court adjourned until fall, with only one third of its cases disposed of. We know what would happen if the Printer's Devil did that.

Col. Goetshals says gambling is demoralizing the canal employees. If those fellows want to bring any money to God's country they should stay at home evenings and read black covered government reports.

Judge Gary of the Steel Trust would be willing for the government to fix prices. No doubt Andrew Carnegie is all worn out getting towns to carry off his surplus in the shape of libraries.

Mr. Roosevelt says this country would never arbitrate the Monroe doctrine. Very likely no, yet some people regard the M. D. as an elephant that should be given away to anyone who will agree to give it a good home.

With the closing of the year of our public schools, many of our boys are getting restless to go to work. Some of them are anxious to quit books for the shop or store even before they have reached the high school grades.

It is difficult to understand why Muncie should go "wet" by a majority of more than five hundred and then a majority of voters in each ward should be found to disfavor the return of the saloon. There is something strange about the shifting majority, as James E. Watson has said, it is not to be depended on. It sounds like the charges of fraud which were made by the "drys" after the election must have an element of truth in them.

The right honorable Finly Gray of this district was one of the three congressmen who held that Mr. Bryan was right when he advocated free wool. Now that the gentleman from Nebraska has flopped over, where does Mr. Gray stand?

The result of the remonstrance being circulated in Muncie and a good majority being piled up for the "drys" all over the city after it was voted "wet" at an election would lead one to believe that Stephen Fleming and his crowd has overworked something in that little law of his after all.

Many Rushville people are planning for summer vacations. Some there are who will take long trips and will attempt to see many sights that are not common in Rushville. Others will seek rest in the shade of tall trees or along the banks of some stream. But we predict that the fellow who stays at home and keeps hammering away will be about as well off at the end of the season.

Governor Marshall said in his speech before ten Democratic editors and many times that number of Democratic politicians at an alleged meeting of the editors of the State at Laporte that his enemies were branding that document of his own mind the "Tom Marshall" constitution in order to ridicule it. We are surprised that Tom would admit such a thing as that. The name serves the purpose well, but it does not seem fitting and proper that Tom should say in public that his name alone is sufficient to make it a joke.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola will be in charge of the Psi Iota Xi sorority tonight. The management has secured two fine films in the Vitagraph, "A Widow Visits Stringtown," and the Lubin "The Two Fathers." A new song will be sung.

The Palace will show tonight and tomorrow night as a special feature three reels of pictures showing a great Mexican show. One of the features of the picture is a bull fight, said to be one of the most sensational of films. All the pictures show the strange customs and everything of interest of that war-ridden country. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will show as a feature film the Great Northern production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet." The picture is an exact reproduction of this famous novel and play. The film is said to be complete in every detail and the acting unsurpassed. The other film, a Solax, entitled "A Count of Noaccount" is a great comedy. Leon Maxey will sing "On Mobile Bay."

The Star Grand Airdome will be run under the auspices of the Psi Iota Xi sorority tonight and will present three pictures. The first is a Yankee drama entitled "Adventure in Sicily." The second picture is a Powers drama entitled "The Pantaloon Skirt." It is a comedy. Harry and Jack surprise their sweethearts with an unexpected visit, and while there a prominent dry goods firm sends the girls a pantaloon gown for their inspection. The boys bribe the man, and Jack dons the costume and poses as a model. A series of very funny happenings takes place until the girls happen to discover the disguise of the boys, and eventually they are forgiven.

The Coronation bag is the latest of exquisite novelties and is made principally in silk and tinsel tapestry, with antique gold tinsel applique in various designs.

PLAN REUNION AT LEWISVILLE

Veterans of 84th Indiana Volunteer Infantry Will Gather There on September 20.

DAUGHTER OF THE REGIMENT

Plans in Embryo For Triple Reunion at That Place on Same Day Next Year.

Every effort will be made by the Lewisville and Henry county members of the 84th Ind. Volunteer Infantry to get word to the one hundred and fifty surviving members of the regiment to attend the annual reunion to be held at Lewisville on Wednesday, September 20, and everything possible will be done to make it the most successful reunion ever held and arrange for a fine program.

F. M. Crull and T. B. VanDyke of Lewisville, met several members of the regiment at Richmond during the G. A. R. encampment and all promised to attend. J. W. Maey of Winchester, who attended the G. A. R. encampment at Richmond, had the honor of taking the daughter of the regiment with him in an auto during the parade. While seated in the machine she carried the stars and stripes aloft all during the procession and many were the cheers they received from all sides.

Mrs. Harriet Norden Lutz is her name, and her home is Springfield, Ohio. As she has promised to attend the reunion this year, it is expected that the attendance will be the largest in the history of the regimental remains.

A motion will be made this year to hold a triple reunion in Lewisville in 1912, on the same day, with the 36th, 69th and 84th regiments in attendance, and endeavor to make it the greatest reunion ever held in this part of the State.

EARLHAM FUND IS NEAR $30,000

A Gain of $1,319 is Made in a Day
And Smiles Are the Result.

LOW AVERAGE LAST WEEK

Campaign Chairman Believes That the Tide Has Turned and $50,000 Will be Had.

The Earlham debt fund slipped up two notches since Saturday afternoon and today it stands at $29,114. On Saturday afternoon it closed at $27,795. This is a gain of $1,319, and there were smiles at campaign headquarters today.

Last week the contributions fell off somewhat when compared with the week before. The canvassers were doing their best, but they seemed unable to make the same headway.

"I knew it couldn't last," said Morton C. Pearson, campaign chairman, "and I was confident that the tide would turn. I believe it has turned now, and that we will make a far better showing this week. In fact we will have to if we are to win this campaign. Two weeks from next Wednesday is the end and we must have $50,000 by that time.

Today's contributions, while much larger in the aggregate, average about the same of those of last week. The only difference is that more people are represented in the pledges. There were thirty-six in the total increase of $1,319 today, which makes an average of about $19 each.

The towns represented in the pledges today were Winchester, Noblesville, Westfield, Carmel, Montezuma, Rockville, Kansas City, Mo., Bloomington, Clayton, Mooresville, Danville, Plainfield, Economy, Hortonsville and Chicago, Ill.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Interviewing Willoughby.
Coolly, yet without in the least comprehending how best to proceed, Keith drew toward him the only chair in the room, and sat down. Miss Hope—more widely known as Christie MacLaire—had claimed this drunken lad as her brother, but, according to Hawley, he had vehemently denied any such relationship. Yet there must be some previous association between the two, and what this was the plainsman proposed to discover. The problem was how best to cause the fellow to talk frankly—could he be reached more easily by reference to the girl or the gambler? Keith studying the sullen, obstinate face confronting him, with instinctive antagonism over his intrusion, swiftly determined on the girl.

"It was not very nice of me to come in on you this way," he began, apologetically, "but you see I happened to know your sister."
"My sister? Oh, I guess not!"
"Yes, but I do," throwing a confidence into his tone he was far from feeling, "Miss Hope and I are friends."
The boy sprang to his feet, his face flushed.
"Oh, you mean Hope? Do you know her? Say, I thought you were giving me that old gag about Christie MacLaire."
"Certainly not; who is she?"
"That's more than I know; fellow came to me at Carson, and said he'd met my sister on a stage west of Topeka. I knew he was lying, because she's home over in Missouri. Finally, I got it out of him that she claimed to be my sister, but her name was MacLaire. Why, I don't even know her, and what do you suppose she ever picked me out for her brother for?"
He was plainly puzzled, and perfectly convinced it was all a mistake. That his sister might have left home since he did, and drifted West under an assumed name, apparently never occurred to him as possible. To Keith this was the explanation, and nothing would be more natural, considering her work, yet he did not feel like shattering the lad's loyalty. Faith in the sister might yet save him.
"Perhaps the fellow who told you," he hazarded blindly, speaking the first thought which came to his mind, "had some reason to desire to make you think this MacLaire girl was your sister?"
The suggestion caused him to laugh at first; then his face suddenly sobered, as though a new thought had occurred to him.
"Damn me, no, it couldn't be that," he exclaimed, one hand pressing his head. "He couldn't be workin' no trick of that kind on me."
"Whom do you mean?"
"A fellow named Hawley," evasive.
"The man who claimed to have met my sister."
"Black Bart? Hawley?"
The boy lifted his head again, his eyes filled with suspicion.
"Yes, if you must know; he's a gambler all right, but he's stuck to me when I was down and out. You know him?"
"Just a little," carelessly; "but what sort of a trick could he be working trying to make you acknowledge Christie MacLaire as your sister?"
Willoughby did not answer, shifting uneasily about on the bed. Keith waited, and at last the boy blurted out:

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How it Can Be Done in Rushville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoots across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Mrs. Henry Fisher, 307 W. Hendricks St., Shelbyville, Ind., says: "I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills about three years ago. At that time I was suffering from kidney trouble and backache and I felt miserable in every way. I had often heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and I finally procured a supply. The contents of two or three boxes gave me relief and I had no further trouble until recently when my back began to ache. I at once used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me as promptly as before. I have previously endorsed this remedy through the local papers and at this time I gladly confirm all I have said in its praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"Oh, it wasn't nothing much. I told him something when I was drunk once, that I thought maybe might have stuck to him. Odd he should make that mistake, too, for I showed him Hope's picture. Bart's a schemer, and I didn't know but what he might have figured out a trick, though I don't see how he could. It wasn't no more than a pipe dream, I reckon. Where did you meet Hope? Back in Missouri?"

One thing was clearly evident—the boy's faith in his sister. If he was to be rightly influenced, and led back to her, he must have no suspicion aroused that her life was any different from what it had been before he left home. Besides if Keith hoped to gain any inkling of what Hawley's purpose could be, he must win the confidence of Willoughby. This could not be done by telling him of Hope's present life. These considerations flashed through his mind, and as swiftly determined his answer.

"Oh, I've known her some time. Not long ago I did her a service for which she is grateful. Did you know she was out in this country searching for you?"

"Out here? In Kansas?"

"Sure; that isn't much of a trip for a spirited girl. She got it in her head from your letters that you were in trouble, and set out to find you and bring you home. She didn't tell me this, but that is the way I heard it. It was for her sake I came in here. Why not go to her, Willoughby, and then both of you return to Missouri?"

The sullenness had gone out of the boy's face; he looked tired, discouraged.

"Where is Hope?" he asked.

"Port Larned, I suppose. She went to Carson City first."

"Well, that settles it," shaking his head. "You don't suppose I could go brownin' round Larned, and not get snapped up, do you? They don't chase deserters very far out here, but that's the post I skipped from, and they'd jug me all right. Besides, I'm damned if I'll go back until I get a stake. I want to see a fellow first."

GOOD NEWS FOR CATARRH SUFFERERS

So many hundreds of catarrh victims who have taken the Hyomei treatment, have written thanking us for publishing our method of taking the Hyomei vapor treatment in connection with the inhaler that we gladly publish it again.

The vapor treatment is especially recommended in stubborn cases of chronic catarrh of long standing, but remember that the inhaler should be used daily as usual.

This treatment only takes five minutes time before going to bed. Pour a teaspoonful of Hyomei into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe for several minutes the vapor that arises.

You will be surprised at the result of this treatment; it makes the head feel fine and clear; you will sleep better, and that stuffed up feeling will gradually disappear.

This method will break up the worst cold in the head in one night.

A bottle of Hyomei costs 50 cents at F. B. Johnson & Co., who guarantee it. Complete outfit, which includes the little pocket inhaler, costs $1.00.

No stomach dosing; just breathe Hyomei and cure catarrh and all diseases of the breathing organs. Free trial bottle by addressing Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"What fellow?"
"Well, it's Hawley, if you want to know so bad. He said if I would come here and wait for him he'd put me on to a good thing."

The boy fidgeted along the edge of the bed, evidently half ashamed of himself, yet obstinate and unyielding. Keith sat watching his face, unable to evolve any means of changing his decision. Hawley's influence just at present was greater than Hope's, because the lad naturally felt ashamed to go slinking home penniless and defeated. His pride held him to Hawley, and his faith that the man would redeem his promise. Keith understood all this readily enough, and comprehended also that if "Black Bart" had any use for the boy it would be for some criminal purpose. What was it? Was there a deeply laid plot back of all these preparations involving both Willoughby and his sister? What was it Hawley was scheming about so carefully, holding this boy deserter in one hand, while he reached out the other after Christie MacLaire? Surely, the man was not working blindly; he must have a purpose in view. Willoughby had acknowledged he had told the fellow something once when he was drunk—about his family history, no doubt, for he had shown him Hope's picture. What that family secret was Keith had no means of guessing, but Hawley, the moment he saw the face on the cardboard, had evidently recognized Christie MacLaire—had thought of some way in which what he now knew could be turned to advantage. The few scattered facts which Keith had collected all seemed to point to such a conclusion—Hawley had sent the boy to Sheridan, where he would be out of sight, with orders to wait for him there, and the promise of a "stake" to keep him quiet. Then he had gone to Independence and Topeka seeking after Christie MacLaire. Evidently he meant to keep the two apart until he had gained from each whatever it was he sought. But what could that be? What family secret could Willoughby have blurted out in his cups, which had so stimulated the gambler's wit?

Two things combined to cause Keith to determine he would uncover this rascality—his desire to repay Hawley, and his interest in the girl rescued on the Salt Fork. This gossiping web of intrigue into which he had stumbled unwittingly was nothing to him personally; had it not involved both Hawley and Miss Hope, he would have left it unsolved without another thought. But under the circumstances it became his own battle. There was a crime here—hidden as yet, and probably not consummated—involving wrong, perhaps disgrace, to the young girl. He had rescued her once from out the clutches of this man, and he had no intention of deserting her now. Whatever her life might be, she was certainly an innocent victim in this case, deserving his protection. The memory came to him of her face upturned toward him in that little room of the Occidental, her eyes tear-dimmed, her lips asking him to come back to her again. He could not believe her a bad woman, and his lips compressed, his eyes darkened, with fixed determination. He would dig into this until he uncovered the truth; he would find out what dirty trick "Black Bart" was up to.

As he thought this out, not swiftly as recorded, but slowly, deliberately, piecing the bits together within his mind, blindly feeling his way to a final conclusion, the boy had sunk back upon the bed, overcome with liquor, and fallen asleep. Keith stepped over, and looked down upon him in the dim light. He could recognize something of her features in the upturned face, and his eyes softened. There was no use seeking again to arouse him; even had he been sober, he would not have talked freely. Keith lifted the dangling feet into a more comfortable position, turned the lamp lower, went out, and latched the door. Two men were tramping heavily up the stairs, and they turned into the hall at the very moment he disappeared within his own room. He still retained his grasp upon the latch, when a voice outside asked:

"What number did you say, Bill—29?"

Keith straightened up as though suddenly pricked by a knife; he could never forget that voice—it was Hawley's.

TO MEMORY OF KING
VICTOR EMANUEL II

Rome the Scene of Patriotic Enthusiasm.

Rome, June 5.—With patriotic enthusiasm 60,000 persons crowded the square below the gigantic monument to Victor Emmanuel II., which was unveiled Sunday. The monument was surrounded by soldiers, diplomats, senators, ministers, deputies, mayors, army and navy officers and public officials. As a small band of Garibaldi veterans ascended the stairway leading to the platform at the base of the monument the crowd burst forth with cheers.

Queen Helene, the Dowager Queen Marghereta, and Marie Pia, grandmother of the deposed king of Portugal, the dukes of Genoa, Aosta and Abruzzi, the counts of Turin and Udine and the royal children drove from the Quirinal escorted by the life guards, the king following.

When the monument was unveiled by Victor Emmanuel III., the bands played and there was an artillery salute of 101 guns, while all flags were lowered in salute. The inaugural address was delivered by Giovanni Giolitti, the Italian premier.

Nine survivors of Garibaldi's British legion were present bearing the union jack, which was the only foreign flag displayed. No Socialists nor Republicans were in attendance.

THE FIRST BATTLE

Philippi Commemorates Fiftieth Anniversary of Notable Date.

Philippi, W. Va., June 5.—June 3, fifty years ago, the first land battle of the civil war was fought at Philippi, and Saturday was the principal day of the celebration of the semi-centennial anniversary of the event. Union and Confederate veterans went over the line of retreat of the southern troops when they were driven out of Philippi. Addresses were made by Governor W. F. Glascock, United States Senator Robert Taylor of Tennessee, Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker of Pittsburgh, and former Senator Henry G. Davis, United States Senator Clarence Watson and Colonel John T. McGraw of West Virginia.

Nashville, Tenn., June 5.—Because several girls were mounted astride in the recent Confederate parade at the Little Rock reunion, the local bivaouac of Confederate veterans has adopted this resolution:

The same resolution requested generals not to appoint young women as staff officers.

CORSICAN CRUELTY.

It Loomed Up Large In Napoleon's Treatment of Children.

Napoleon had a singular rage for pulling children's ears, sometimes so hard as to make the poor children cry. Caroline was very vexed when she saw her little Achille the victim of his uncle's caresses, and more than once her son's tears made her weep too.

One day the First Consul, pulling the ears of the little fellow, hurt him, and he cried out. To teach him not to cry his uncle pulled his ear again, harder. Achille, having freed himself, came back to him in a fury and, raising his little fist, shouted:

"You are a villain, a wicked, wicked villain!"

To prove the contrary Napoleon should have embraced his nephew and made him forget the pain he had gratuitously inflicted by some show of affection. But tenderness was not in his character. Corsicans scarcely know what it means, and, though Napoleon used to say, "I am less of a Corsican than one thinks," he was really more so than any one or he himself thought. Instead of quieting his nephew he became angry and gave him a violent slap on the face. The child ran weeping to his Uncle Lucien, who was present, while Mme. Murat was so upset that she was taken ill. "From the effort," says Lucien, who relates this episode, "she made to control her feelings, which such violence to her child outraged. As for the First Consul, he left the room, shrugging his shoulders and slamming the door and saying that Caroline had always been an affected creature and acted like all parents who spoiled their children." —Turquan's "Sisters of Napoleon."

Old Time Smallpox Cure.

To cure smallpox was apparently a very simple matter in the good old times. John of Gaddesden, court doctor to Edward II., has recorded that he got rid of the disease by the simple expedient of wrapping his patients in red cloth.

"Let scarlet red be taken," he says, "and let him who is suffering smallpox be entirely wrapped in it or in some other red cloth. I did this when the son of the illustrious king of England suffered from smallpox. I took care that all about his bed should be red, and that cure succeeded very well."—London Chronicle.

SUPPORT OF THE PUBLIC NEEDED

President Asks People to Back Up His Fight.

RECIPROCITY IN THE BALANCE

In Presenting His Case Against the Senate in His Chicago Speech President Taft Told the Farmers That They Were Being Bunked by the Interests and Urged the Force of Public Opinion in Bill's Favor.

Washington, June 5.—President Taft's speech on Canadian reciprocity in Chicago has aroused bitter resentment among certain senators who are opposing the pending trade agreement. Some senators who commented on the president's speech expressed a purpose to make formal reply to it in the near future.

Washington, June 5.—President Taft took advantage of the trip home from Chicago to get a rest. A storm which passed over the country just a few hours in advance of his train brought the temperature down to a very comfortable point. At Fort Wayne a German singing society serenaded him, and at Wooster, O., the students of the university of that city cheered him and urged him to make a speech. However, the president kept to his rule of not making any speeches while traveling on Sunday.

For a couple of hours the president motored through the suburbs of Pittsburgh last evening with his hister, Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin. The president left Pittsburgh at 11:15 and arrived in Washington at 8 o'clock this morning. The president reached Washington with a considerable load off his mind. In his address at Chicago Saturday he told the country what the reciprocity situation in the senate means as he views it. He has given the public his analysis of the sort of opposition which faces him in the senate on this matter, and he returned to Washington for the final fight for its passage with the knowledge that now the public will know what is what in the reciprocity situation.

Methods of Opposition.
The president outlined some of the methods employed by the opponents of reciprocity, practically told the farmers that they were being "bunked" by special interests, and said that the fate of the agreement rested not so much with the United States senate as with the people of the country.

If the farmer and the country at large, he said, could be brought to understand that this treaty was in the interests of the majority of the people he would no longer fear the coming vote in the senate.

The president was not sparing in his words. He told the reasons for the opposition to the treaty by the lumber trust and by the paper manufacturers, and, without using names, scored a New York firm, some of whose members recently appeared at the hearings before the senate finance committee in Washington, ostensibly in behalf of the National Grange, objecting to the enacting of the agreement.

In spite of protests that are arrayed against it, the president expressed the belief that the agreement would become a law. "The bill," said he, "will pass, if it passes at all, because of the force of public opinion in its favor."

On Wednesday the bill will be brought to the senate from the finance committee. The president feels that he has now completely presented his case to the public, and he is anxious that the public will swing its force of opinion in support of this measure in the critical days to come.

PLENTY OF EVIDENCE

Government Licenses Used by State Against Blind Tigers.

Memphis, Tenn., June 5.—Carrying with them minimum costs totalling $30,450, indictments for violating the state-wide prohibition law have just been returned against 1,160 liquor dealers. The federal liquor license list was used as prima facie evidence. The specific charge is operating without a license, and the action was taken after Judge Edgerton's charge to the grand jury. The previous grand jury refused to indict after receiving the same charge from Judge Edgerton.

THE LUMBER COMBINE IN LINE FOR INQUIRY

Judge Landis Opens Investigation In Chicago.

Chicago, June 5.—Judge Landis, who imposed the $29,000,000 fine on Standard Oil when it was convicted before him as a trust, is preparing to take testimony in the lumber inquiry which began today, when a special panel was drawn. The lumber industry in the west will be investigated. Prosecutor Sims refuses to disclose what line the inquiry will take, but it is said that the testimony of Frederick Weyerhaeuser, head of the alleged combine, will be sought.

TREATED HIM WELL

Havana Tried to Make Diaz Forget His Troubles.

Havana, June 5.—From the time that Diaz came into the harbor at dusk Saturday night until his ship, the Ypiranga, carried him out past Morro castle again at 10 o'clock Sunday morning on the final lap of exile to Europe, Havana did all it could to make him forget that he is not still the honored president of a neighboring republic. When the steamship left its anchorage Diaz and his wife stood on the captain's bridge and received farewells from hundreds of loyal Mexicans crowding small craft below. Again the Ypiranga's band played the Mexican national air and the final notes were drowned by rising shouts of "Viva Diaz" from those in pleasure boats and passengers on the steamship. Some more enthusiastic Mexicans shot off day fireworks from a point ashore, and the air was filled with red, white and green parachutes.

The Wreck of the Maine.

Havana, June 5.—Major Ferguson, the United States army engineer in charge of the work on the Maine, expects to begin to pump the water from behind the coffer dam today. It will be more than a month before the wreck has been uncovered sufficiently to enable the experts to determine whether she was destroyed by an explosion from the outside or the inside.

ANGRY STRIKERS WRECKED HOUSE

Rioting in Connection With Pennsy Strike.

WOMAN ONE OF THE VICTIMS

Striking Shopmen at West Brownsville Attack House in Which Strikebreakers Were Quartered—Woman Nursing a Baby Was Shot in Breast and a Number of Strikebreakers Badly Beaten.

Brownsville, Pa., June 5.—One of the worst riots that has broken out since the Pennsylvania railroad strike began occurred late Sunday night at West Brownsville. One woman was shot in the breast, three men were wounded in the legs and a score of others were badly beaten. Only three arrests were made. The strikers learned that sixty-five strikebreakers had arrived to work in the West Brownsville shops and were being housed at the home of Michael Sonick. They prepared to attack the Sonick house. The strikers wrecked the house, firing shots and hurling stones through the windows. Mrs. Sonick was seated at the table nursing her baby. She received one of the bullets in the left breast. A riot call was sent in. When the smoke cleared away the police found five strikebreakers lying on the ground beaten almost to a pulp and with bullet wounds in their legs. They are in Memorial hospital. A score of others were badly beaten, but were carried away before the police arrived. The police say there were 200 shots fired. Today the Pennsylvania railroad is paying off the strikebreakers. Sheriff Bruff expects much rioting and has sworn in 125 extra deputies.

WAR IN SIGHT

The Situation in the Balkans Again Reported Menacing.

Sofia, June 5.—Newspapers in Cetinje print an alleged interview with Czar Nicholas in which he is quoted as saying that war between Turkey and Russia is inevitable because of Montenegro's peril from the presence of Turkish troops on the frontier. The ministers concur and the populace is greatly excited. All are fully armed and if the Turks drive the Albanians into Montenegro war will follow automatically.

Accentuates the Situation.

Cettinje, June 5.—The Mirdites, the most powerful of all the Albanian tribes, and whose attitude toward Turkey has heretofore been uncertain, have revolted. They have proclaimed Albanian autonomy and have moved to attack Alessio. The Turks are rushing troops to quell the tribe, which numbers about 10,000.

PAVED THE WAY

Alleged Confession Made by Iron Worker Will Aid Prosecution.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5.—The alleged confession made by John Delaney, structural iron worker, at Muskogee, Okla., to the effect that he was employed by John J. McNamara to inspect all structures being built by non-union labor, prepare drawings of them and indicate where dynamite could be used to the best advantage in destroying them, is regarded as of importance by the authorities here. If substantiated it will make Delaney one of the most important witnesses in the case against the McNamara brothers, charged with conspiring to destroy the Times building and the murder of nineteen employees. Delaney told of meeting McNamara in Salt Lake city, where one job was pulled off, he said.

NAGGED AT HIM AND STRUCK HIM

Harry C. Rozell of Manilla Makes Many Serious Charges in a Suit Against Wife.

SHE RETALIATES IN COMPLAINT

Declares That Husband Assaulted Her Daily After First Month of Married Life.

The proverbial rolling pin in married life seemed to come into play a few months after Harry C. Rozell took unto himself a bride as he alleges in a complaint filed in the Shelby circuit court on a change of venue from the Rush circuit court, that his better-half got after him on one occasion with that necessary household article and on another occasion she made him quiet down by hitting him in the face with a yard-stick, says the Shelbyville Republican.

They were united in marriage in this city on October 16, 1909, and separated on July 4, of the following year. Mr. Rozell complains that his wife treated him in a cruel and inhuman manner and that she persuaded him after their marriage to reside with her grandparents in this city. She quarreled with him and her grandparents to such an extent that they told them to leave.

Then they went to the home of Mr. Rozell's mother in Manilla. She is a nurse and is at home only a short time. They made their home in Manilla, Rozell securing a job. He says his wife quarreled with him on his arrival home in the evening and far into the night, and she went so far as to tell him that she did not care the snap of her finger for him. Then she told him to go—but he didn't. He accuses her of failing to prepare his meals; that she purchased mostly canned goods, taking all his wages each month to pay for them.

In answer to this complaint, Mrs. Rozell alleges that while she was very ill and in need of assistance, her husband abandoned her and she was compelled to seek aid from her grandparents in this city. She says her husband was very cruel and inhuman in his treatment of her and that thirty days after their marriage he struck and beat her almost daily and he cursed and degraded her. He draws $40 month wages, has property to the value of $600 and she asks for $200 alimony and $25 attorney fees; also her maiden name—Myrtle Phalmor.
